Nazi Troops Are Falling Back in Baltic States

Believed To Be Getting Ready for Last Stand in Balkans

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Yielding more than 500 towns and villages to the Russians, the mauled divisions of the German northern army corps fell back on Riga tonight for what may be their last stand in the Baltic states.

A brief Soviet communique reported that Red army forces took more than 200 places in their drive to clear the scattered and disorganized enemy from the west coast of Estonia southwest of Tallinn and pressed on down within forty-five miles northeast of Riga, taking 300 places in Latvia.

Riga, last Baltic capital in enemy hands and a highly valuable naval base for the newly unfettered Red Baltic fleet, already is closely threatened by the Russians six miles to the south, and only a narrow escape corridor leading westward along the sea remains to the Germans.

The Soviet communique also announced capture of Turka, in Southern Poland twenty miles from the border of Czechoslovakia, and nine other communities in that mountainous frontier region.

The Russians were silent concerning all other fronts, but the German radio said Soviet pressure on the Hungarian border from Romania was increasing, with several attempts to cross into Hungary from the area north of Arad. The Ankara (Turkish) radio said the Russians had crossed the border northwest of Arad and were fifteen miles inside Hungary.

The only news of the fighting at Warsaw came from the Polish underground forces of General Bor, which reported a sustained Soviet artillery barrage from the right bank of the Vistula, with Poles inside the city acting as snipers.

The German radio said Soviet attacks on the Beskid passes leading from Poland to Czechoslovakia were repulsed, but the commander of Czechoslovak forces inside the German puppet state of Slovakia reported through London that the Germans had been forced to withdraw forces from the interior to meet the Red army pressure.

This, the Czechs said, enabled the patriot forces to speed up their drive to free in East-Central Slovakia.

Allied Leaders Announce Greater Measure of Home Rule for Italy

686 Americans Killed on Palau

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill announced tonight a greater measure of home rule for Italy and projected a program of industrial reconstruction to help that one-time enemy nation join "the struggle to defeat Germany and Japan."

How this program is to be financed was not disclosed and speculation immediately arose that since its announced purpose is the prosecution of the war, United States lend-lease assistance and British mutual aid might be extended to Italy.

The new policy was decided by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill at Hyde Park, Sept. 18 and 19, where they met secretly following their conference at Quebec.

The effects of the policy seemed certain to be far-reaching. The designation of Italy as an "enemy" nation barred from normal commercial relations with this country and Britain is to be removed, the president and prime minister said, and direct political relationships are to be entered into between Rome and Washington and London.

The purpose of placing this "increasing measure of control" in the hands of the Italian government were described as being to help restore order in riotous, hungry Italy; to encourage the political rebirth of the Italian people; and enable the Italians to bring their full resources to bear in the fight on Germany and Japan.

"Since her surrender in September, 1943, Italy has held the never clearly defined status of 'co-belligerent' but has been under strict control of the Allied (British) high command in the Mediterranean."

Prime Minister Churchill visited Rome just before the Quebec conference.

The announcement did not clarify the future status of the thousands of Italian war prisoners still held in this country.

A joint statement issued here and in London declared that as an initial mark of the new conversion from Allied military to Italian civil control of the defeated country the Allied control commission hereafter will be known as the "Allied Commission" and the British and American principal representatives in Rome will be known as ambassadors while the Italian government will be invited to appoint direct representatives to Washington and London.

The United States representative in Rome, Alexander Kirk, has held the rank of ambassador personally since his assignment to Italy.

Rumely Defies House Campaign Investigators

Constitutional Government Committee Official Held "In Contempt"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The House Campaign Investigating committee called today a federal court action against an official of the Committee for Constitutional Government who refused to submit a list of contributors of $100 or more.

The congressional committee, headed by Representative Anderson (D-NM), cited Edward A. Rumely, executive secretary of the Committee for Constitutional Government, founded by Publisher Frank Gannett, for "wilful and deliberate refusal" to produce subpoenaed records and held that he was "in contempt" of the House.

The committee's finding was certified to Speaker Sam Rayburn for certification to the United States attorney for submission to the grand jury.

Should Rumely be indicted and found guilty he could be fined $1,000 and jailed for twelve months.

The rare recourse to formal contempt proceedings recalled that the Dies committee, in 1940, certified several Communist officials for contempt, but none ever was tried or punished in court.

U. S. Virtually Stops Imports From Argentina

American Ships Cannot Call at Argentine Ports after Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The United States tightened screws on Argentina today with two moves thinning trade between the two countries to a trickle.

The State department announced the first move—a ban preventing American ships from calling at Argentine ports after October 1.

At the same time, it was learned, the department instructed the Foreign Economic Administration to restrict export licenses to Argentina to a minimum.

About a year ago, export licenses for Argentina were ordered held down, but the new confidential directive cuts exports which can go to Argentina to those necessary for public health and to maintain essential services.

Normally, Argentina buys chemicals, lumber and iron and steel from the United States in large quantities and has difficulty getting these commodities elsewhere nowadays.

Americans Smash Three German Counterattacks near Bologna

Dewey's Speech Will Be Rebroadcast Tonight

By GEORGE BRIA

ROME, Sept. 26 (AP)—American Fifth Army troops advancing toward Bologna, major enemy communications center in Northern Italy, have smashed three heavy German counterattacks, and on the Adriatic battlefield British Eighth Army forces have crossed the tiny but famous Rubicon against strong enemy resistance. Allied headquarters announced today.

Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, using seasoned troops, hurled three vicious counterattacks at the Yanks near Monte La Pina, twenty-one miles southeast of Bologna. Headquarters said the Germans suffered heavy casualties in their futile attempt to check the advance of the Americans.

Fight in Moradaccio

Three miles southeast of Monte La Pina other Fifth Army troops were reported battling the Germans in the street of Moradaccio. Sixteen miles south of Imola on the lateral Bologna-Rimini highway.

Although it had been stated at headquarters that the Americans were as close as fifteen miles to Bologna, no places were specifically named closer than twenty-one miles.

On the Americans' eastern flank British and Indian troops took Palazuola, eight miles east of Firenze, and Marradi, four miles farther east, capturing many prisoners.

The British also occupied San Benedetto, twenty-three miles south of Imola, and drove the enemy from the heights of Monte Scarabottolo and Monte Carnevale.

The forcing of the Rubicon, which Julius Caesar crossed southward in 49 B. C., was hailed by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied Mediterranean commander, with the hope it "will lead, as with a family, to the final victory and to the decisive victory and to the destruction of Kesselring's army."

In Caesar's time, the Rubicon formed the boundary between Italy and Cisalpine Gaul. Caesar's action forced a state of war between the Roman legions and Pompey and the Senate. Since then "crossing the Rubicon" has come to mean a definite commitment to a set course of action.

In addition to crossing the Rubicon, British troops captured Bordonchio, nearly six miles beyond Rimini, pushing through the main body of the German First Parachute division after an extremely heavy barrage, during which the Germans suffered severe casualties.

U. S. Transports Bringing Succor To Allied Forces

Open Supply Route into Nijmegen - Arnhem Area; Nazis Say Airborne Unit Liquidated

By HOWARD COWAN

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Wednesday, Sept. 27. (AP) The British Second Army sent another column east toward Germany yesterday, pulling up on the Meuse river at Boxmeer, thirteen miles south of Nijmegen and only three miles from the Dutch-German border.

At the same time an alternate supply route into the fiercely-contested Nijmegen-Arnhem area was opened up through Grave by British armor striking along the western side of the corridor that leads up from Eindhoven.

This new drive came as American transports landed close behind the front in Holland with men, weapons and supplies for the beleaguered airborne troops in the Nijmegen-Arnhem sector and bolstered the Allied forces for the increasingly vital struggle at the northern gateway to the Rhine.

There still was no word early today, however, of the fate of the British airborne "Red Devils" division which has clung stubbornly to a little foothold on the north bank of the Neder Rhine for nine days and nights.

A German broadcast, unconfirmed by Allied sources, asserted that the valiant little band of British skytroopers finally had been liquidated with the last 600 surrendering yesterday morning.

Critical Situation Eased

The combination of powerful ground blows by British armor and the reinforcement of the British by transports landed from transports and gliders eased the critical situation along the narrow corridor stretching up into Holland and supreme headquarters announced that the highway between Veghel and Nijmegen was cleared of the Germans although still under artillery fire.

Cleaning up the west flank of the tenuous communications link with the northern spearhead of Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's Second Army, British armor knocked the Nazis out of Oss, ten miles west of Grave, and from Heesch, eight miles north of Veghel. These successes provided an alternate supply route to Nijmegen by way of Grave.

Still farther south, Belgian forces of the Second army were driving toward the German frontier east of Maaseyk.

The Germans were resisting strongly and in some sectors the opposition seemed to be gaining in strength as the critical battle flamed toward a climax.

Loaded Gliders Towed In

Big American freighters of the air, C-47 transports towing gliders loaded with men, weapons, jeeps and supplies, landed a forward airfield yesterday giving succor to the harassed Allied forces.

Associated Press Correspondent A. J. Goldberg, who made the flight in the sky-train, said these first actual landings of supply planes were made in a grassy pasture with sight of the smoke of battle.

The supply operation was run so smoothly that the first planes were unloaded and taking off for their bases in England before the last of the transports flew in through the narrow, uncertain corridor.

Another dispatch from the front in Holland declared the Germans were throwing thousands of men and all available armor and material into an all-out effort to stem the threat to the Rhine and emphasized that "there is no minimizing the importance of this battle. On it rests the whole success of the campaign." The Germans are forced to powerful wedge into the narrow supply corridor up from Eindhoven for twenty-four hours, this dispatch said, and succeeded in temporarily isolating the northern spearhead of Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's Second Army by cutting the road between St. Oedenrode and Veghel.

Churchill Promises Sharp Crackdown On War Criminals

By JOHN F. CHESTER

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill promised a sharp crackdown on war criminals and the House of Lords debated treatment of a postwar Germany today as Parliament reconvened in what some persons have called its "victory session."

Asked whether neutrals had been properly warned against harboring war criminals and whether Adolf Hitler in particular might escape, Churchill told the House of Commons caustically: "It is not our intention to allow the escape of these men to be effected without exerting almost every resource which a civilized country can contemplate."

He added, however, that Spain was not among the neutrals which have promised to refuse war criminals asylum.

Churchill, cheered as he returned to the capital from his Quebec conference with President Roosevelt, projected "a joint conference of all the United Nations" to discuss such permanent peace proposals as may grow out of Washington's Dumbarton Oaks conference, but added that no commitments had yet been reached.

In the House of Lords a sharp but inconclusive debate was touched off by Lord Vansittart, leading British exponent of a hard peace for Germany, who demanded to know "who is going to occupy what" in a defeated Reich, and suggested that a non-fraternization order be issued to all Allied troops in Germany.

He urged that it be made clear "we enter Germany not as friends but as conquerors, bent on reducing the German nation to sufficient spiritual humiliation and military impotence to make it impossible for them to behave in the same way again."

Lord Cranborne, government leader in the House of Lords, replied that the British government could not make a unilateral answer without further consultations with other governments, but that the Allied aim was "not a slave world," even though "we cannot hold the German people (as contrasted with the Nazis) entirely guiltless for these continued aggressions."

Most FEPC Cases Involve Negroes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Fair Employment Practice Committee (FEPC) reported today that alleged discrimination against negroes was concerned in 288 of a total of 331 cases filed prior to June 30 in FEPC Region Four which includes Maryland.

Director Joseph Evans said that twenty of the total filed in the region embracing Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and the District of Columbia involved discrimination because of religious belief. The remainder concerned discrimination based on national origin and alienage.

Approximately fifty per cent of the total involved government agencies, departmental as well as field offices. Evans continued. No other office deals directly with departmental offices of the government and thus, Region Four is vitally concerned with plans for the reduction of government personnel, he stated.

The director reported that a much smaller number of negroes probably would be left in federal clerical and professional jobs after the war, although the negro had made greater gains in employment in the federal government than anywhere else since Pearl Harbor.

The work of the region has been heavily concentrated in Washington, Baltimore and Richmond, but cases in North Carolina and West Virginia will receive the concentrated attention of the regional office in the coming weeks, Evans announced.

Demobilization Aims Are Listed

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, declared tonight that demobilization plans "must not fail," and said the Selective Service system "accepts its responsibility to the veterans."

"The plan of demobilization must work, not just to release men from the army or navy but beyond that to the ultimate placing of the man back again with his family and his job and to insuring his rights and benefits," he added in an address prepared for a Buffalo Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting.

Asserting that Congress has placed much responsibility on Selective Service in connection with the re-employment of the veteran, General Hershey said the system "will endeavor to see that the veteran is given every consideration."

"If jobs continue to be plentiful the task will be easier," he stated. "If on the contrary, jobs are scarce it is our belief that Congress intended to give preference to the veteran."

He asserted the army has reached its authorized strength, the navy is proceeding to its authorized strength on schedule.

Swift Shifting Of Troops Seen By War Analyst

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press War Analyst

A certain silence dawned by General Eisenhower over Allied operations in the Brabant gateway area in East Central Holland to Northern Germany has all but blacked out news from that seething front. It leaves the fate of gallant British "Red Devil" airborne advance units in doubt despite Berlin radio claims of their complete liquidation.

It seems certain, however, that Eisenhower's security was dictated by other considerations. The enemy certainly knew all about the situation at the Arnhem port where the British daredevils have kept a stubborn toe in the Brabant door to the North German plain for nearly ten days.

The silence order has some other significance that probably bodes the best for the British. It was intended to deny the enemy knowledge of a swift shifting of Allied forces or a concerted power stroke to end the stalemate in the Dutch corridor and get on with the business of smashing the Nazi "west wall" defense system before autumn rains intervened.

Not many weeks of good fighting weather remain. Berlin broadcasts reflect Nazi hopes of holding out at all costs in the west to await a winter stabilization on of the battle lines. The Allied high command in Europe also clearly recognizes that the situation against it is desperate and a supreme and immediate effort is in order in the west if the sweeping victories in France and Belgium are to be fully exploited.

The ultimate victory in Europe is not in question. The time it will take to achieve it, and the hope of averting a deadening winter campaign with its heavy casualty lists not only in battle but from prolonged exposure of the troops in sodden trench lines, are at stake.

Undoubtedly Eisenhower and his commanders are straining to bring the full weight of their greater numbers and better equipment to bear promptly and decisively at the selected point or points between Arnhem and the Belfort Gap.

Eisenhower's call to millions of unslaved foreign workers in Germany to get into action further testifies to his determination to push on before winter. And if he succeeds in cracking through the "west wall" anywhere within the weeks ahead the British in the Arnhem area must be given much of the credit for it.

Dewey Takes Back Seat as Sapulpa Gives His Wife Tremendous Welcome

By GARDNER BRIDGE

SAPULPA, Okla., Sept. 26 (AP)—Well, it was a great day in Sapulpa, and the Democrats and the Republicans became one big happy family almost.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, became Mr. Frances Hutt for the day, husband of Sapulpa's most distinguished daughter, and Mrs. Frances Hutt Dewey stole the show.

Which was all fitting and proper since Sapulpa is Mrs. Dewey's home town, and all the governor could say to the shirt-sleeved crowd assembled around the band stand in the court house square was "I'm the luckiest man in the world. Thank you for sending her to me."

It was a great day in Sapulpa and even the Democratic mayor, O. L. Humes, turned out to act as master of ceremonies for the Republican campaign crowd.

Welcome Signs Everywhere

Flags and bunting and "welcome" signs were everywhere, and there were three high school bands all smart and snappy in scarlet and blue and yellow jackets. The Oklahoma and Sand Springs high school sent their toolsters to help out the Sapulpaans and a mighty fine job they did with "The Star Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America" and other numbers.

Mrs. Dewey, who struck out to seek fame and fortune as a singer in New York right after graduating from high school here in 1921, seemed a wee bit nervous as she stepped into the governor's campaign train to greet her fellow townsmen. Right behind her were her gray-haired parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orla Hutt, who brought her here from Sherman, Texas, where her son, Harold, and her daughter, Frances, were born and then in Sapulpa where they have maintained a plain truly American home at 118 East Lime street for the past thirty years.

The only jarring note was the Roosevelt pictures in some of the neighbors' homes.

Unemployment Fund Is Expected To Cover State Postwar Demands

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 26 (AP)—The commission advised the governor that 120,000 of the 200,000 who may become unemployed between the anticipated end of the war with Germany by November of this year, and the first of January, 1945, would be eligible for compensation payments.

After these claims are paid, the fund would then increase anew, the commission stated, amounting to approximately $95,000,000 by the end of the war with Japan if the Pacific conflict ends by April, 1945.

Claims of an estimated 250,000 eligibles would then have to be paid making an estimated total of $106,000,000 in benefit payments from the fund from March 31, 1944, through March 31, 1947.

Accumulations to the fund would probably total nearly $142,000,000 leaving a balance of approximately $36,000,000 on April 1, 1947 the commission added.

LECOMPTÉ ANNOUNCES POSTWAR PROGRAMS

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26 (AP)—Development of two postwar programs, one of which provides for construction of a mammoth fish hatchery "probably in Frederick county" at a total estimated cost of $344,000, was announced today by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte said the fish hatchery whose potential production would be several times that of all the state's present plants, would cost $269,000.

The other program, embracing a comprehensive survey of stream pond, lake and canal conditions in Maryland and such improvement measures as construction of dams and planting of trees and shrubs to prevent erosion, would cost an estimated $75,000, he added.

The plans were presented yesterday to the Federal Fish and Wildlife service for approval and shortly will be submitted to the State Board of Natural Resources.

Money for the work, LeCompte said, probably would come from both state and federal sources.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, declared tonight that demobilization plans "must not fail," and said the Selective Service system "accepts its responsibility to the veterans."

"The plan of demobilization must work, not just to release men from the army or navy but beyond that to the ultimate placing of the man back again with his family and his job and to insuring his rights and benefits," he added in an address prepared for a Buffalo Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting.

Asserting that Congress has placed much responsibility on Selective Service in connection with the re-employment of the veteran, General Hershey said the system "will endeavor to see that the veteran is given every consideration."

"If jobs continue to be plentiful the task will be easier," he stated. "If on the contrary, jobs are scarce it is our belief that Congress intended to give preference to the veteran."

He asserted the army has reached its authorized strength, the navy is proceeding to its authorized strength on schedule.

Teamsters Will Aid Returning Veterans To Secure Positions

Assurance that returning veterans will get their jobs back was made by the International Teamsters Union, A. F. of L. at its annual convention in Washington, Charles E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, announced yesterday.

The international union asserted that servicemen will be given their jobs when they come back and that veterans will be given next chance with a maximum initiation of $5.

Third choice in available positions will be given to defense plant workers, Stutzman said.

The union went on record as endorsing the fourth term of President Roosevelt.

Realizing the problems of operators, the union also promised to do all in its power to aid truck operators in securing new equipment, tires and parts, the union official said.

Stutzman, with Ernest N. Screen, president of Milk Drivers Union, Local 924, attended the convention and attended Saturday night's dinner when President Roosevelt addressed the Teamsters union.

But British armor, supporting the airborne troops, was slowly forcing the Germans back and field commanders said they expected highway convoys to resume traffic some time today.

At least three times German armored and infantry attacks had severed the thin Allied supply line between Eindhoven and Nijmegen, the vital artery along which reinforcements were being shoved toward Arnhem. As many times British tanks and self-propelled guns had smashed the Nazis back and cleared the highway.

In their determined effort to halt this Allied thrust toward Germany the Nazis struck with their hoarded reserve of fighter planes. A single flight of 100 Pöcker-Wulf fighters attacked British forces near Nijmegen, and another seventy-five swept down on the besieged airborne Tommies at Arnhem. Sixteen of the attacking Nazis at Nijmegen were shot down by RAF Spitfires and Typhoons.

The last official announcement from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters before the news censorship was imposed said that amphibious trucks and assault boats of the British Second Army were ferrying a small quantity of reinforcements and supplies across the quarter-mile wide Rhine to the bitterly-resisting force at Arnhem.

First Snow Falls

(The German DNB broadcast said the last British skytroops surrendered in an area little more than a quarter-mile square west of Arnhem. "The prisoners still were in possession of their arms of all kinds, which fell into German hands," the broadcast said. "They were over-fatigued, exhausted and starved."

A cold autumn rain swelled the muddy Rhine torrent between the isolated force and its would-be rescuers. The season's first snows, which whitened the slopes of the Jura mountains near the southern end of the long front along the Reich frontier, found the opposing armies all but stalemated.

American doughboys of the First Third and Seventh armies who had been shivering in their light uniforms were being issued winter clothing—long underwear, extra blankets and overcoats. Sleeping bags were reported on the way to cut the chill of frosty nights and mornings. The great offensive to crush Hitler was going into the winter.

The single ring ceremony was read under the light of candles as the organist, Mrs. Irvin Schafer, played "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Have Thine Own Way." Preceding the ceremony Miss Irene Seigner, sister of the

He Asked for It And He Got It

CANDIDATE ROOSEVELT undoubtedly must be experiencing a ringing in his ears of the warning, "burny, burny!" given children in reaching out to touch something too hot for them. He reached out in his assaults on Governor Dewey and the Republican party Saturday night; but promptly on Monday night he got a scolding answer from Governor Dewey, who could have done nothing else than scorch his fingers painfully. But, as Dewey explained, Candidate Roosevelt asked for it—and reached for it. Considering the descent of the New Deal chief to the low political level to which he fell, the burning was deserved. Whether it suffices as a lesson remains to be seen.

The scolding came by means of calm, but vigorous citations from the record, happily devoid of the abuse, ridicule, evasion and incongruous wisecracking that characterized the Roosevelt invitation. And who were noted in the record as having made the "reckless charges of fraud and falsehood"? Why the Roosevelt "dealers" themselves—Republicans or anti-New Deal Democrats—New Dealers like Senators Truman and Barkley; and Cens. Hershey, Marshall, Arnold and, what must have been particularly embarrassing, Mr. Roosevelt himself!

Governor Dewey thus expounded the charges of fraud and falsehood as being fraudulent and false in themselves, including the New Deal record of falling to half a seven-year depression during its incumbency and thus stretching it into the record length of eleven years and making it the worst in American history. He neatly handled the allegation that there had been no intimation of an "indispensable man" by quoting the words of the Roosevelt henchmen, Senator Truman, the odorous bosses Hague, Flynn, Kelly and Hannegan, and noting quite pertinently that Mr. Roosevelt is indispensable to Harry Hopkins, Madame Perkins, Harold Ickes, Sidney Hillman, Earl Browder and the Communists and others of this "motley crew."

Quotations from the record as to the lack of preparation for war permitted by a chief and his administration who professed to know all about what was coming were conclusive; but Mr. Roosevelt is doubtless thanking his lucky stars that Governor Dewey did not go as far as the responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster. But this may come and will come if on last Saturday night Mr. Roosevelt makes the mistake of asking for it.

The Dewey rebuttal scored not only by reason of the cold facts, but also by the sturdy, militant, dignified and confident manner in which it was presented. It was ringing, and it must yet be ringing in Candidate Roosevelt's ears, which also must be burning. Governor Dewey has definitely won the first round of the political battle to which his opponent threw down the gauntlet. He demonstrated again that he is capable of handling any situation.

Dewey and the Bobtail Ballot

THE NEAR-HYSTERIA evinced by the New Deal politicians in attempting to smear Governor Dewey for his adherence to the fundamental principles of freedom is perhaps without parallel. It seems to be beyond their comprehension that anyone can hold a constitution sacred, knowing that it will give those for whom it was written the truest form of free government.

Exactly twenty-eight states, including New York, have constitutions which make it impossible to use the federal short ballot. In these states, members of the armed services will have the right to exercise their power to vote for a full ticket from president of the United States to the lowest state office. The bobtail ballot provided by federal law is a partial ballot only. It therefore not only fails to fulfill the mandate of twenty-eight constitutions, but is repugnant to them.

Because of its political implications, there are those who have chosen to make the New York Soldier Vote law a target for misinterpretation. Under that law it is easier for a New York soldier to vote on Guadalcanal or in Italy than it is for a citizen of New York city, and it guarantees to every member of the armed forces who wants to vote, a full ballot. In the words of Governor Dewey, "Nothing could be simpler and remain honest."

It is to Governor Dewey's credit, and the other twenty-seven states abiding by this same fundamental obligation which is the basis of representative government, that they have withstood the pressure from those who would use politics to undermine the freedom of franchise. To construe their laws otherwise would be to affect their validity.

Demobilization That Can Be Started Now

IT WAS an obvious political move for the president to direct Budget Director Harold D. Smith to start planning now for the demobilization of government civilian personnel. Some steps in this direction can be taken when the war in Europe ends, said the president, but the desired shrinkage of government workers cannot be completed until after the defeat of Japan.

But the Byrd Committee on Reduction on Non-essential Federal Expenditures takes sharp issue, in its most recent report, with the Civil Service Commission's statement that the payroll has been cut. The committee reports that the total number of paid employees in July, 1944, was 3,112,965, or 17,592 in excess of the employment peak reached in June 1943. In short, according to the Byrd figures, the number of federal civilian employees is still on the increase.

Senator Byrd calls for immediate reduction of federal personnel by 300,000, as a starter. He believes that this could be done without harm to the war effort. Few would question that government agencies in Washington, at least, are overstaffed. The great rise in federal civilian workers occurred, of course, from 1940 on. In September, 1939, when the war in Europe began, the total number of employees stood at 940,133. That, of itself, is a figure worth examining. In 1933, when Roosevelt took office, the total was 568,161. Thus, up to the start of war, 371,972 persons had been added to the civilian payroll.

This was due, in large part, to the expansion of federal functions, establishment of scores of new agencies, etc. It is doubtless too much to hope that the number of civilian employees can ever be cut back to 600,000. But there can and must be a curtailment of the situation where five per cent of the working population of the United States works for the executive branch of the federal government.

An Easy Road
But Perilous

WHEN Mr. Roosevelt was governor of New York, he was confronted with a proposal for expansion of state powers at the expense of local control of local affairs. It is of interest now to recall what he had to say then about that proposition. "I cite this," Roosevelt stated, "as an illustration of the present danger of a tendency to forget a fundamental of American democracy, which rests on the right of a locality to manage its own local affairs; tendency to encourage concentration of power at the top of a governmental structure, alien to our system and more closely akin to a dictatorship or the central committee of a communist regime. We have met difficulties before this, and have solved them in accordance with the basic theories of representative democracy. Let us not now pursue the easy road of centralization of authority, lest some day we discover too late that our liberties have disappeared."

But, alas, we have been led along the easy road of centralization of authority, and unless we turn from it by means of our votes at the November election, those liberties will indeed disappear.

Americans Want
Jobs, Not Doles

HERE'S SOMETHING that everyone who has anything to do with postwar planning should realize before he goes any further: Americans want jobs, not doles.

When he knows this, the planner will then realize that the thing to do is not dream up vast government projects or relief schemes, but to encourage industry to maintain the kind of production which will mean more jobs.

The government should make provisions for promptly settling its bills with the manufacturers of war materiel, so that they will have funds with which to reconvert and meet war rolls. Then the owners of big factories must have the authority to remove government-owned machinery from their premises in order to install new machinery to make the things the people want and need.

That there will be a tremendous demand for goods and services after the war is undeniable; that industry is capable of fulfilling the demand is, after its war production record, assured.

Americans want jobs, not doles. Planners should plan and act accordingly.

In Paris, says a news dispatch, champagne sells for $8 a bottle. Which reminds us, whatever be the price of that old champagne salesman—What's his name? Oh, yeah, Von Ribbentrop!

Fifty-three per cent of all American motor cars now are more than six years old. And the age is increasingly hard to disguise.

We Turn to Stone

By MARSHALL MASLIN

A woman in a poem said to a man: "You can't take me against my will. No, I won't go. Do you think you're God, and we have to do what you want?"

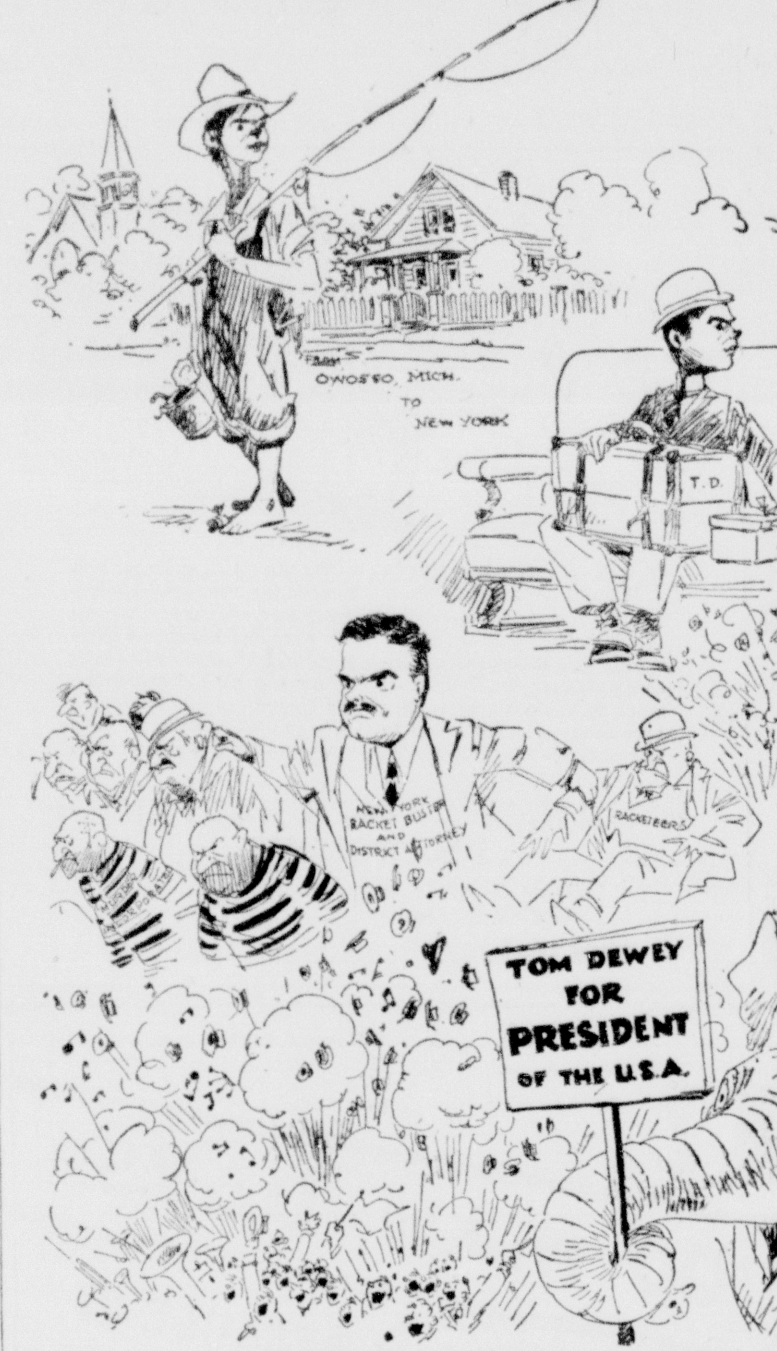

The man said: "You'll go, all right."

The woman laughed and replied: "At last you've struck something. Stiffer than you, Reave, that stubborn will. Is not strength but disease. I've always known it, like the slow limy sickness. You hear about, that turns man's flesh to bone. The willing muscles and fibres, little by little. Grow hard and helpless, at last you can't dent them, nothing will move. He lands in a tent beside a circus, with a painting of him. Over the door and people pay ten cents. To see the petrified man; That's your stubbornness. Your mind set and can't change; you don't go on. Because you want to but because you have to. I pity you. But here you're stopped."

Robinson Jeffers, or American poet who lives in a stone house beside the Pacific, wrote those words in "Thurso's Landing."

He understands and so do all the rest of us, how a man or a woman sometimes confuses the disease of stubbornness with the health of character. We hate stubbornness in other people. We fear it in ourselves, so we say that our own stubbornness is merely a Strong Will, and everybody knows that a strong will is a good thing to have. All the good and great have strong wills—courtesy, persistence, faith, determination, firmness of character. We find our weakness to the light and hold it clear and unflinched by dust or meanness, and we call it strength. We drink deep of our own self-deception and turn to stone.

SMALL TOWN BOY MAKES GOOD

Roosevelt's Lowered Political Strategy
Is Seen As Benefiting Governor Dewey

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 — Just about two months ago—July 10 to be exact—President Roosevelt wrote to Chairman Hannegan of the Democratic National Committee:

"If the convention should nominate me for the presidency . . . I would accept and serve, but I would not run in the usual partisan, political sense."

But last Saturday night—September 23—President Roosevelt discarded that pledge and made perhaps the most partisan and certainly the most political speech of his career. Why did he change? What was the reason for the modification in strategy and tactics?

During the 1940 campaign, Mr. Roosevelt waited and let his opponent campaign all through July and August and then made a few speeches in the autumn. This time the president is starting earlier. Why the formal entry into the campaign in the third week in September?

The answer must be looked for in the content of last Saturday night's speech. Mr. Roosevelt devoted several paragraphs to a discussion of soldier-voting and urged everybody to vote. He said the "politicians and candidates who stand to lose" by soldier votes had handicapped or helped to prevent "millions of soldiers and sailors and seamen" from voting. Then he remarked: "You here at home have the freedom of the ballot. Irrespective of party you should register and vote this November."

The last registration days in most states are in mid-October. Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly had to begin his campaign earlier because he wants to achieve a large registration on his side in the next couple of weeks. That explains the early start of the campaign. It doesn't, of course, explain why the speech was so political and in contradiction of the July 10 promise.

The underlying reason for this alteration in tactics may be related either to the kind of campaign Governor Dewey has been making—which is increasing in effectiveness—and the reports that are reaching here as to the excellent radio delivery of the Republican nominee, or it may be related to the provocation given in the Dewey addresses.

Big Opportunity
Is Seen for Dewey
In People's Peace

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Mr. Dewey, in contacting Secretary Hull, and in repeated speeches, has made it plain that he will strive for a non-partisan foreign policy and a non-partisan peace. "We make peace together. Let us make peace together. The people do not want a New Deal peace nor a GOP peace. They want a people's peace. And, as Mr. Dewey and Secretary Hull are patriots enough to know, a people's peace is the only kind the people will long support."

But this requires more than words—however honestly spoken. It requires deeds. Such a policy requires a non-partisan delegation to write the peace. This means, if Mr. Dewey is elected, that Democrats must serve in equal numbers and with equal rank with Republicans.

Great Opportunity
This affords Mr. Dewey a magnificent opportunity to promote national unity, and give the great cause of world peace a chance to win.
It would galvanize the nation as a brilliant run on the gridiron brings the bleachers to their feet. If Mr. Dewey were to announce publicly that he intends, if elected, to offer outstanding Democrats, such as Secretary Hull, full representation in the writing of the peace and in the set-up formed to carry it out.
President Wilson muffed the ball

tion debates in the United States Senate. Disagreements are a good thing provided every one is given his chance to speak. If, after full debate, they are outvoted, Americans accept the result. It is a partisan peace, a forced peace, a one-man peace that Americans do not want. I put a few dollars once in a one-man bank where the directors didn't argue things out. I wish I hadn't.

It has been said that there are two sides to every question. But this is not quite true. It is nearer the truth to say there are three sides; your side, my side and the right side! It is the greatness of our traditions of tolerance and free speech that you listen to my office, and I to your side, and thus by the exchange of honest views, both of us are able to arrive closer to the center of gravity of truth.

Tired, Perhaps Sick
Mr. Roosevelt has taken terrific physical punishment in four years as governor of New York, twelve years as president—sixteen in all. It is a marvel that he has so far stood a strain which sends men to an early grave (Wilson-Coolidge) after only eight years in office. There is no denying that he is very tired, even if not sick. His pictures show it.

Defeated, Mr. Roosevelt's experience would not be lost. He would be available for consultation at any time by his successor, either by telephone or personal conference. Who will say that he would not cheerfully serve his country whenever requested?

Politician's Dream
Answer Is Seen
In Youth Report

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 — The Pepper sub-committee came up in the Senate a few days back with the results of nine months or more of profound study of juvenile delinquency.

The tome had a tone of august severity and it said the committee had heard fifty witnesses. However it did not say who these witnesses were and I would judge from the conclusions that they might have been the children.

The main philosophical conclusion, for instance, was that "children are people." Frankly I always thought they were rather immature people, who needed to be handled, led, inspired,—and maybe spanked now and then for their own good, although I know the children mostly object to that.

Settled Policy
What I am suggesting is a settled policy in the House of Representatives and Senate. In naming the personnel of its various committees it is the custom of the Speaker or Vice President to consult the leader of the opposition as to the men to be named. This avoids packed committees and satisfies the unwritten law of fair play.

Disagreements Salutary
No one supposes that there will not be serious disagreements by patriotic men in the formulation of peace terms—or in the ratification of the peace.

after months of study from fifty witnesses.
"The child should be within reach of churches, community centers and youth organizations, where, with other children, he can share his hours of worship, play, recreational activities," he wrote, or rather the report says he wrote it, because it sounds a lot like the ladies in the Childrens Bureau of the Labor department.

Reversal Seen Better
I always thought the children could pretty well reach the churches now. There are a lot of them around. He might have made more of a point, the way I look at it, if he had suggested the churches reach the children.

As for reaching the playgrounds, I can see rather clearly what Senator Pepper is reaching for. He wants new ones built, a reach which has often been stretched from Washington carrying funds from treasury or from the municipal treasuries.

This may be one answer for child recreation—if more playgrounds are really needed in some localities—but it is also the answer to a politician's dream, more spending. In precisely the same ethereal political realm, the report unrealistically goes on to point out there are now only twelve federal agencies handling child problems—so it wants another one.

Complex Reasoning
"The committee knows of no federal agency whose services could be dispensed with safely," it concludes. "Neither does the committee know of any federal agency setup in such a way that it can provide adequate leadership and co-ordination in the whole broad field of delinquency protection."

This reasoning seems to be a little complex to me. In short, while all these bureaus have failed to be anything successfully to cure juvenile delinquency, a cure can be made by another bureau at the top. It seems to me I have heard that solution before in connection with many other deficiencies and failures of government leadership.

Election Influence Seen
The report recommends that this new commission "for children and young people be established in the Office of War Mobilization" (now that the war is nearly over) and that the new bureau establish "child-guidance clinics" as an integral part of the school systems over the country.

For this, it recommends federal funds for "grants-in-aid to states"—the old money answer again. There are many other similar conclusions in the report, but I think the most important one behind it was not directly mentioned—namely that an election is scheduled for November 7.

WHEN THE CORPORAL RETURNS

★ Today, the Corporal works for the biggest "grocery store" in the world . . . the Quartermaster Corps of the United States Army. His storeroom is a jungle clearing. His customers are khaki-clad G-I fighters. But, his merchandise still includes many of the items he used to handle at home.

In this far-off place, the steady arrival of goods from home has given the Corporal a new "slant" on transportation. He'll tell you, "our existence depends on a continuous flow of supplies . . . and if the stuff is late, we start worrying about our next meal."

When steaming jungles are just a memory and the Corporal re-opens his corner store, he'll appreciate the full importance of transportation in his everyday work. He'll continually depend on the railroads to fill his shelves with goods from all over the nation.

When he calls on the Baltimore & Ohio, with its 70,000 workers and 11,000 miles of track, he'll find rail service fitted to his desires for convenience, speed and safety. In all ways, the Corporal will enjoy finer B&O service than before he went to war.

Invasion Picture Will Be Shown by B. and O. Group

Plans Are Announced for Essay Contest on October 20

A motion picture, "Brief for Invasion," will be presented in connection with the essay contest, to be sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio Co-operative Traffic Program, October 20, in the Fort Hill high school auditorium. It was decided at a meeting of the men's division last night in the Queen City hotel.

The picture, one of the latest army films for war industry, includes animated diagrams illustrating the formidable German defenses, and presents the captured Nazi footage showing German fighting tactics. The high points of the picture are actual combat sequences taken during the establishing of beachheads and the fighting in Normandy. These scenes have been rushed directly from the invasion front. The film especially shows the American war workers what they have done to make this decisive blow possible.

Plans for the essay contest were discussed at the meeting. The topic of the essays will be "Postwar Transportation," and the contest is open to high school students throughout the city. Rex Miller, G. M. Gemmill and Abe Kossner comprise the essay committee and the judges will be H. F. Wyatt, G. M. Gemmill, M. M. Grove, of the B. and O. and J. M. Miller, division superintendent of the Western Maryland Railway company. Numerous prizes will be awarded the winners.

Mrs. H. T. Bowersox will open the meeting with the invocation. The guest speaker, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, will be introduced by Mrs. A. N. Golladay, program chairman. Mrs. Wiley will discuss the Equal Rights Amendment.

Brief reports will be given by the department chairmen in regard to their schedules for the coming year. Chairmen and their departments include Mrs. J. W. Holmes, American home; Mrs. Thomas McClellan, literature; Mrs. Frank S. Rowe, music; Mrs. Julius Schindler, legislation; Mrs. A. M. Lichtenstein, civics; Mrs. G. Intra-City Game Tickets Will Go On Sale Today

Four Allegany Players Ailing; Two-Week Rest Benefits Sentinels

Arrangements for the opening of the intra-city football series Friday night at 8 o'clock when the Allegany High Campers and the Fort Hill High Sentinels will collide at the Fort Hill stadium have been completed.

Ralph R. Webster, principal of Allegany high, announced last night that advance sale of tickets for the battle will go on sale at the two schools today. He emphasized that there will be no reserved seats for the contest and that the advance sale should relieve congestion at the stadium.

Allegany followers will occupy the cement stands and Fort Hill fans will sit in the wooden bleachers, Webster said. Out-of-town officials will handle the scrap.

Rest Benefits Sentinels

Coach Walter L. Bull, principal of Allegany and Mentor Mel "Newt" Henry, of Fort Hill, will get together, probably today, and decide whether Friday's game or the second meeting on Thanksgiving day, November 30, will figure in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League race. This week's tussle will figure in the city championship but it is likely that the Turkey day engagement will be the only one counted in the CVAL standing.

The Sentinels, who suffered their only setback last season at the hands of the Campers and as a result were tied by Allegany and LaSalle for the city crown, should be at top strength for Friday's scrap. The Hilltoppers have had two weeks rest since opening their campaign with a 31-0 triumph over the Keyser (W. Va.) High Golden Tornado. Ralph Beard, fullback, and Donald "Bubbles" Whiteman, halfback, saw action in the lid-lifter after being on the pre-season injury list, while Bob Miller, holdover senior tackle, will probably be in shape. Miller, a 210-pounder, didn't play against Keyser due to a sprained ankle.

Four Campers Ailing

Allegany didn't come out of its opener at Somerset, Pa., last Saturday unscathed. The Campers scored an impressive 27-0 victory over the Eagles but four key players emerged with injuries. Bowers said last night. End Bill Stanley is nursing a back injury. Halfback Paul Rank and Center John Nickle received leg injuries and Bill Thompson has a sprained ankle. Bowers said that his boys will have little contact work this week in order to give the injuries a chance to heal.

If the injured players respond to treatment, only one change from last week may be made in the Camper starting lineup. Ronald Durst, right halfback who missed the Somerset game due to illness, was recovered and may get a starting assignment.

Pirates Defeat Boston's Braves

BOSTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates battered around in the first inning today and scored six runs, enough to give them a 6 to 2 victory over the Braves.

Pete Coscarart started it off with a single and Bob Russell singled right behind him to send Pete to third and take second himself. The Basque scored as Johnny Barrett grounded out to Buck Eichenlaub.

Frank Colman doubled to left center, sending Barrett to third. Babe Dahlgren drew an intentional walk. Frankie Gustine also doubled to left center scoring both Barrett and Colman and Ira Hutchinson relieved Starting Pitcher Nate Andrews.

Hank Camelli was walked purposely and Pitcher Al Butcher singled to left scoring Dahlgren and Gustine and moving Camelli to third. On an attempted squeeze, Coscarart popped to Hutchinson who doubled Camelli ending the inning.

The Braves' two runs came in the second inning on Eichenlaub's home run into the right field jury box which scored Chuck Workman who had singled. The box:

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 26 (AP)—Coach Ed McKeever announced today an addition to the Notre Dame coaching staff—Creighton Miller, who made grid history last year as an Irish halfback.

Reds Hand Giants Double Setback

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Five New York Giants errors were more potent than four home runs today as Cincinnati swept both ends of a doubleheader from the home club, 8-5 and 6-4.

Three Giant misplays were responsible for three Redie scores in the second game as Tom De La Cruz took the decision over Rookie Miller from Jersey City, who had relieved Rube Fischer in the sixth. Frank McCormick drove home two with a fourth inning homer, his nineteenth and Steve Mesner singled home Eric Tipton in the fifth for the other. Ray Berres's first homer of the year featured the New York attack.

Homers by Buddy Kerr, Johnny Rucker and Nap Reyes failed to turn the tide in the 8-5 opener in which Jim Konstanty was the winner over Johnny Allen although neither was there at the finish. McCormick drove in three of the Reds' runs with two hits, including a home run. The scores:

New York Fights To Be Telecast Starting Friday

Jacobs Completes Negotiations with Gillette Razor Company

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Wounded war veterans in Eastern United States hospitals will have inside seats, via television, at the next fifty fights offered by the Twentieth Century Sporting Club.

Mike Jacobs, Twentieth Century promoter, completed negotiations today with the Gillette Safety Razor Company, for the telecast of all Madison Square Garden and St. Nicholas arena fights offered in the next year.

The telecasts will originate through the N. B. C. New York outlet, station WNBC, and will be piped to stations in Philadelphia and Schenectady. Jacobs said practically all army-navy hospitals in the area covered by the three stations had been fitted out with television receiving sets.

A few fights have been telecast on an experimental basis in the past, but this is the first contract of its kind, Jacobs said. First fight to be telecast under the arrangement will be Friday's fifteen-round featherweight championship affair in the Garden between Willie Pep, the crown-wearer from Hartford, Conn., and Albert (Chaiky) Wright, the Mexican-born Californian from whom Pep took the title.

Wright, who declined to go through with a District of Columbia scrap with Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson a couple of weeks ago after a one-day postponement caused by rain, was suspended indefinitely today by the National Boxing Association. The suspension will not upset Friday's fight, however, since New York is not affiliated with the NBA, but it will keep Wright out of all NBA rings until he fulfills his engagement with Wilson.

Despite a commission ruling that championship fighters must be in New York five days before a fight, Pep is completing his training at his Hartford home. The commission, not desiring to break his training, routine, sent a physician and board member to Hartford today to give him his physical checkup.

F. D. R. Holds Edge over Dewey Among "Independent" Voters

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 26.—The group which holds the balance of power in the coming elections is the so-called "Independent" voters—those who do not vote a "regular" party ticket.

This group holds the balance of power because of its size. Institute estimates, based on a survey recently completed, put this group at twenty per cent of the voting population, or, in other words, at about one in every five voters.

The independent voting bloc is important in another respect. Since it is made up of voters who presumably study both candidates and issues before deciding how they will vote, its support can be won by either party right up to election day.

At of today, President Roosevelt holds the greater share of support among this group, as is shown by replies to the following question:

"If the presidential election were being held today, how would you vote—for Roosevelt or for Dewey?"

The results among those willing to state a preference today:

For Roosevelt 55%
For Dewey 45%

While President Roosevelt now holds the advantage over Governor Dewey among this group of civilian voters, the G. O. P. candidate's campaign tour may do much to overcome this advantage.

In this respect it should be noted that in the present survey about one-fifth among the independent voters questioned still prefer not to say which candidate they would pick if the election were being held today.

In the survey to learn the size of the independent vote, field reporters at 10, using the voices of Jean Tennyson, Jan Pearce and Jesse A. Roberts, Plaintiff vs. George S. Roberts, Defendant.

No. 1294
In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant. A VINCULO MATRI-MONII.

The bill of complaint states that the parties were married on the 3rd day of June, 1921, in Hancock, Maryland; that one child was born, namely, Howard I. Roberts, 22 years of age, that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 28th day of May, 1940, without just cause or reason, and has continued uninterruptedly since said date, in deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation. The Plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland and has been for more than three years next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, his present address unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon ordered this 18th day of September, 1944, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be mailed to the defendant, shall have four successive weeks before the 21st day of October, 1944, to give notice of the filing of this bill, warning him to appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 4th day of November, 1944, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be granted as prayed.

Youth Confesses He Participated In Kidnap Case

FBI Files Complaint on Auto Theft Charge; Probe Continues

Arrested at his home here at 1:30 a. m. yesterday, ten minutes after his return from Akron, Ohio, George T. Stewart, 20, of 535 North Centre street, has admitted to Lt. James E. Van that he and two other youths kidnapped and robbed Newton Cook, of Glencoe, Pa., early Sunday morning near Wellersburg, Pa., officers said last night.

The other youths held in connection with the case are Jesse James Valentine and William L. McClellan, both about 19, of Bedford road, who were arrested Monday in Akron following a $100 robbery. Lt. A. J. Hudock, of the Pennsylvania state police, said they implicated Stewart in the kidnapping.

Valentine and McClellan have been released to Pennsylvania authorities and are being returned to Somerset, Pa., for further action, Hudock said.

Pennsylvania May Get Custody

Stewart, who denied he was implicated in two robberies and an automobile theft here Friday night and Saturday morning that James Christman, 19, Lake Gordon, Pa., said he (Christman), Valentine and McClellan took part in, probably will be turned over to Pennsylvania authorities, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said last night.

At Pittsburgh, Howie O'Connor, chief of the Pittsburgh bureau of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the FBI is co-operating with the Pennsylvania police in the case and added that Charles B. Uhl, United States district attorney at Pittsburgh, yesterday authorized filing of a complaint against the youths charging them with violating the National Automobile Theft act.

O'Connor said a filing of federal kidnapping charges against the trio will depend on further investigation. Lt. Hudock, of the Pennsylvania police, said Paul Pike, district attorney of Somerset county, indicated to him that the case will be turned over to the FBI.

Stewart's Story Varies

Stewart's admission to Lt. Van varied somewhat from the account of the robbery and kidnapping of Cook first released by Pennsylvania authorities.

According to Lt. Van, Stewart said he and the other two youths first met Cook at a poolroom in Cumberland Saturday night and later met him on South Mechanic street. They talked to him there about taking a ride. Lt. Van said Stewart told him, and later accompanied Cook to his automobile parked on Frederick street.

They drove out Bedford road, the officer quoted Stewart as saying, telling Cook in the vicinity of Lake Gordon "This is where we take over." Cook was bound with friction tape and his belt, a handkerchief was stuffed in his mouth as a gag and he was tossed from the car. The youths then cut across toward Wellersburg and continued on to Akron.

At Akron, Stewart was the only one of the trio to get lodging in one hotel and the others drove to a second place to get rooms, agreeing to meet at an appointed place in an hour, according to Stewart's story related by Lt. Van.

Hopped to Bedford

When Valentine and McClellan failed to appear Stewart became alarmed, bought a ticket to Youngstown, Ohio, on a bus, then hitchhiked to Bedford, Pa., where he took a bus to Cumberland Saturday night. He had been home only ten minutes when he was arrested by Lt. Van and Officer D. J. Racey yesterday morning.

Christman, who was arrested Monday night after his mother had been told by officers to bring him to police headquarters, was questioned by Paul M. Fletcher, assistant state's attorney yesterday morning, and last night State Attorney Harris said the youth probably will be given a preliminary hearing this morning on two charges of burglary and one count of unauthorized use of an automobile.

He admitted under questioning Monday night that he and Valentine and McClellan stole a car from Cook on street late Saturday night and said he drove it from the scene. Later the trio walked to a cleaning establishment on Frederick street, stole several articles of wearing apparel and tried unsuccessfully to break into the safe, police said.

Carried Saved-off Shotgun

Then they returned to the car and rode to a Baltimore avenue bar where they broke in, stole a cash register containing $75 and several bottles of whisky.

Christman told police, they said, that the trio had a .38 Smith & Wesson and used the butt of it to break a window in gaining entrance to the bar. They bought the gun for $10, officers said, then cut it down. Christman took it home with him early Saturday morning and hid it near the house, officers said. They held it at police headquarters last night.

Police said Christman also told them the trio rifled two automobiles, stealing a dozen shotgun shells and two flashlights from one and several gasoline ration coupons from another.

Christman said he refused to accompany the other two youths Saturday night.

Flintstone Soldier Wins Bronze Star

A Flintstone soldier, Technician Fifth Grade Henry B. Lowther, was awarded the Bronze Star medal for making ten trips under enemy fire to bring badly needed ammunition to front-line forces at Bouainville in the Solomon Islands last March 11 and 12, according to a War department announcement.

The army said that Lowther, who lives about five miles east of Flintstone on the Baltimore pike, drove a vehicle loaded with mortar shells over a hilly road, constantly subjected to enemy mortar fire and direct snipe fire. After dark the Flintstone soldier continued to haul supplies in a complete blackout.

TO CONDUCT REVIVAL—L. Q. Robinson, evangelist, Vidor, Tex., will begin evangelistic meetings at the Church of Christ, Baltimore avenue and Goethe street, beginning September 28. Services will open each evening at 7:45 o'clock and the meetings will continue for two weeks.

B. & O. Railroad Sels New Record For Moving Loads

6,046 Handled in Single Day Here, Shattering Mark of 1926

A new record for total loads moved over the Cumberland division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in a twenty-four hour period was established last Saturday, it was announced yesterday by Harry F. Wyatt, division superintendent.

This figure represents an increase of 203 cars over the previous record of 5,843 loaded cars moved over the local division in the fall of 1926.

Four thousand four hundred and thirty-three loads were eastbound and 1,613 loads were westbound during the single day's business.

Wyatt pointed out that in addition to the 6,046 loads moved on Saturday 3,493 empties were included in the 115 trains traveling east and west.

Fifty-six trains passed over the division eastward while fifty-nine were westbound.

The total of 9,539 loads and empties moved on Saturday fell below the mark of 9,600 cars recorded within the past year under Wyatt's administration.

Declaring that he placed new locks on the doors of his Westernport home after his wife, Carrie M. Stoll, left and that he did it to prevent her from returning in his absence and "continuing her systematic despoliation" of his home, William F. Stoll asked dismissal in circuit court yesterday of her petition for a court order giving her the right to obtain what she alleged is her personal property, a fair division of property she owns with her husband and an increase in her $75 monthly allowance.

In a decree signed in circuit court June 30, Mrs. Stoll was granted separate maintenance from her husband and he was ordered to pay her $75 monthly for support, but Stoll denied his wife's charges that immediately after entry of the decree he with force, threats and in violent fit of anger drove her from his home in the early morning hours and that she was compelled to find temporary refuge with a neighbor.

Stoll said his wife "removed herself" and took personal possessions with her, and declared that he placed the new locks on the doors to keep her from removing more of the numerous and valuable articles of furniture and household equipment that belonged to him.

He declared that all the furniture in the Westernport home belongs to him and was purchased with money earned by him.

Stoll is represented by Horace P. Whitworth, Sr.

Local Soldier Wounded While Fighting with Twenty-ninth Division

Mrs. Zella Frantz, Route 3, Bedford road, received a telegram from the War department Saturday that her son, Technician Fifth Class Howard L. Frantz, 22, was seriously wounded in action September 7.

The local soldier, now in an army hospital in England, was fighting on German territory with the Twenty-ninth division when he was wounded.

Cpl. Frantz left Cumberland with Company G of the Maryland National Guard on October 3, 1942. He attended Allegheny high school and was employed as a mechanic in a Bedford road gasoline station before he entered active service.

He has sent to his wife, Mrs. Betty Frantz, of Saxton, Pa., four ribbons, including the Good Conduct medal and two combat ribbons.

Kiwanians To Hear Talk by Seabees

"The Seabees in the European Theatre of Operations" will be the subject of a talk to be given at the Kiwanis meeting here Thursday at 12:15 by Photographer's Mate First Class Charles B. Hornbrook, who recently returned to his home here on freight ship after spending twenty-one months in Ireland, Scotland and England.

Three Local Men Included among War Casualties

Three Cumberland soldiers, T-Sgt. Walter Horwath, Lt. John S. Ketzner and Pfc. Thomas D. Ricker, are reported missing, captured and wounded, respectively, according to the latest war zone casualty release.

T-Sgt. Horwath, husband of Mrs. Doris Sarver Horwath and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horwath, 204 Laing avenue, has been reported missing in action in France since September 6. A veteran of eight years of army service, he has been overseas since June 1944. Sgt. Horwath has two brothers in the service: Stanley Horwath, in the navy, and Flight Officer Joseph Horwath, Pearson field, Colo.

Lt. Ketzner, navigator of a Flying Fortress, previously reported missing in action after a bombing raid August 24, is now known to be a prisoner of the Germans. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Ketzner, 402 Louisiana avenue, he was also wounded, according to a message relayed by the International Red Cross. Before entering the service, Lt. Ketzner was employed as a secretary in the superintendent's office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops.

Pfc. Thomas D. Ricker, husband of Mrs. Beatrice C. Ricker, Williams road, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ricker, Sr., was wounded in France September 6. He was sent overseas in May 1944. A 1939 graduate of Fort Hill high school, he was employed at the Star Dye works until he entered the service February 15, 1943.

Posts of Garrett and Allegany counties, eight in all, will combine in an effort to make the event outstanding. Veterans of the Second World war throughout the district will be invited to come to Cumberland November 11 to participate in the parade which will be held at night.

The next meeting of the district committee will be held Saturday, October 7 at 8 p. m. at Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg.

Posts represented last evening were Memorial of Mt. Savage; Parady, of Frostburg; James P. Love, Lonaconing; Fulton Myers and Fort Cumberland of this city.

Answering the petition filed in circuit court September 20 by his divorced wife, Irene V. Collins, who charged that he failed to comply with the terms of the partial divorce decree signed September 3, William V. Collins yesterday declared that he has in every way abided by the decree and in no way failed to comply with any of its provisions.

Mrs. Collins asked that her husband be required to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court, and she charged him with failing to turn over to her one of their three minor children and the children's property as ordered in the decree. Collins, in his answer, charged that her action is in accord with her statements that she intended to do everything possible to annoy him.

Says Wife Took Children

About the time the decree was passed, Collins answered, Mrs. Collins went to his mother's farm where the three children were living and took the two youngest ones with her when she left. Although he was not present, he said he had been advised that Mrs. Collins was given everything she requested.

The third child was not taken by her mother, Collins said, because she desired to remain on the farm. He declared that he has placed no impediment in the way of Mrs. Collins taking the child, and added that Mrs. Collins has made no demand on him for any articles of personal property since that time.

Asks for Court Order

A baby bed and stool mentioned in the complainant's petition do not belong to the children, Collins replied, but were loaned to them. He added that two pillows mentioned are his, that a moving scythe has not been moved from the place where it was kept, and that he has made no effort to keep the other personal property from Mrs. Collins.

Collins asserted he owns considerable personal property at his former home, such as clothing, about 1,000 feet of timber, a wheelbarrow, books, tools, and other property, and asked that the court pass an order permitting him to take his property without interference on the part of Mrs. Collins.

Case histories were presented by Miss Lillian Compton, assistant secretary of the county welfare board; Miss Margaret Morrissey, county health nurse, and Miss Irene Olson, executive secretary of the welfare board.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, stressed the need for treating the symptoms of delinquency in school children rather than waiting until the children were beyond help. Roy W. Future Industrial World Discussed At Rotary Meeting

W. C. Richter Suggests Study of Personal Relationships

Human engineering—the personal relationships between the men at the top and those in the shop, will receive greater attention in the industrial world of the future, according to Walter C. Richter, personnel director of the Landis Tool company, Waynesboro, Pa.

Four specific recommendations considered as basic to national business welfare were summarized by Landis at a Rotary luncheon at the Central YMCA.

First, Richter emphasized, no changes in the industrial picture should be contemplated that would deny a worker his right to freely seek to bargain collectively, but at the same time no individual should be forced into a labor organization against his will.

Limitation Suggested

In the second place, the personnel director said, the sphere not covered by the broad term, "collective bargaining" should be limited so that management would maintain control over these aspects of the business that can rightfully be carried on by it alone.

Furthermore, unions must assume a sense of definite responsibility for creating their own programs without depending upon governmental support and without expecting management to be held accountable for their actions, the speaker declared.

Finally, Richter stated, the government should be confined to the legal aspects of industrial enterprise and should enter the business realm only in rare cases of a conciliatory nature.

Management's Job

Discussing first the position of management, the speaker explained that if employees are not free today, it is in some measure their own fault. Management must assist its workers, he said, especially those new laborers who need to see how they fit into the whole pattern and program of the plant.

It must also remember that workers are human beings, not machines, and that they expect their superiors to plan carefully and see that individuals are placed wisely so that they may function efficiently and be enabled to advance regularly. Management also needs training in the moving of public opinion, it was declared.

Less Government Control

Turning to the position of labor, the speaker explained that monopolies in this realm are as harmful as elsewhere. Government, he added, should be like a second spare tire for an automobile, generally available but used only when absolutely necessary. Labor and management would join in opposing government intervention into industry, Richter intimated if their relationships were happily adjusted so that each could actually be free within its own specific area.

John Shank, of Waynesboro, governor of the One Hundred and Eightieth Rotary district, who accompanied Landis to Cumberland, reported that eighteen clubs of the district had arranged to conduct institutes of international understanding, including those at Frostburg and Grantsville.

At the request of the War Labor Board, officers of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local, yesterday began the preparation of a preliminary brief to state the position of the truck drivers in their requests for equalization of wages between this area and Hagerstown, Charles E. Stutzman, business manager of the union, announced yesterday.

In its joint message to the union and Frederick A. Puderbaugh, attorney for night trucking companies of this area, the War Labor Board stated that a hearing on the wage dispute will be held in the near future.

A threatened walkout of the drivers was averted August 31 when the workers agreed to continue work and enter into a joint stipulation with the operators in an effort to secure prompt WLB action on the wage dispute.

Under the joint stipulation, union and company briefs are reviewed by a deputy WLB director who will present his findings to the board.

Rationing Board Officials Conduct Speed Hearings

Two men whose cars were driven by persons arrested recently for exceeding the state wartime speed limit of thirty-five miles an hour were given hearings yesterday at 3 p. m. in the office of Harry A. Porch, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board.

One of the men, Chester Collins, 215 South Mechanic street, was summoned to the hearing to explain to board officials where he obtained the gas to operate two cars with dealer's tags, since no ration books are issued to owners of such cars.

Collins, who operates a garage at 804 Kentucky avenue, testified that he loaned the cars to persons who brought their own machines to the garage for repairs, stipulating that his cars be returned with some gasoline in the tanks.

Fred Fresh, RFD 5, Cumberland, a salesman, and William V. Collins, Baltimore pike, both of whom were driving cars belonging to the garage owner when they were arrested for speeding last month, were dismissed after speed hearings before the board last week.

The board dismissed the case, since no gasoline ration books have been issued to Collins, making it impossible to punish him by depriving him of his gasoline ration.

Benjamin Waingold, 308 Piedmont avenue, partner in the firm of Waingold Brothers, dealers in scrap metals, was also given a hearing yesterday.

According to Karl W. Radcliffe, chief clerk of the board, Frank M. Treiber, 28 North Mechanic street, was driven a car owned by Waingold when he was arrested August 25 for driving twenty miles an hour on Route 40 near Park Road.

Trooper S. M. Conrad, who arrested Treiber, said that Waingold was riding in the car at the time.

Radcliffe explained that Waingold was responsible for the speed violation because he owned the car and was riding in it at the time of the arrest. The case was held in abeyance, pending further investigation by the board.

School Buses Are In Good Condition

Only minor defects, such as burned out light globes, defective turning signals and missing defrosters, all of which can be corrected immediately, were reported after inspection last Thursday and Friday of privately owned school buses and cars, according to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel.

The fifty school buses and six cars were inspected by M. J. Abbott and J. J. Coady, office of the commissioner of motor vehicles. There were no brake and steering mechanism defects. No tires were disapproved, although some vehicles did not have required spare tires and others had worn tires.

Ramey said that, although the buses are a year older and show some wear, they are in excellent shape.
